The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19, 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over EP '501. The rejection is applied as in the previous Office Action. Applicant argues that the mechanical properties and heat deflection reported in EP '501 are consistent with the Patel declaration. The data reported in EP '501 demonstrate heat deflection temperature as high as 225° C. The samples prepared in the Patel declaration exhibit heat distortion at temperatures as low as 250° F (121° C). Thus, they are not consistent with the heat deflection temperatures reported in EP '501.

Claims 1-19, 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP '501 in view of Brydson, Plastics Materials at page 590. The rejection is applied as in the previous Office Action. Applicant argues that the Brydson teachings are of little value today as modern packaging uses amorphous PET. The teachings of Brydson are relevant for rigid injection molded articles of the type taught by EP' 501 and are evidence that it is well known in the art that developing crystallinity is important when forming rigid injection molded articles. Further, EP '501 discloses nucleating agents as conventional additives and that the PET used in the examples has conventional additives. Therefore, it would have been obvious to include a nucleating agent for its art recognized purpose of promoting crystallinity of PET and improving mechanical properties. As a crystallinity of 15 % is a low level of crystallinity, levels of a least 15% would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art when promoting crystallinity to improve mechanical properties.

Claims 1-20, 23 24 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP '454 in view of Brydson, Plastics Material at page 590. The rejection is applied as in the previous Office Action and maintained for reasons discussed above. Additionally, the examples in JP '454 do not contain additives that would not be present in food grade compositions.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
